Students:

Peru State College, in consultation with the Nebraska State College System and the other State Colleges, will offer a prorated refund to students who choose to move out of residence halls early because of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

This decision follows the College’s decision to move face-to-face classes to remote delivery. The refund will also better adhere to federal guidance to limit gatherings to 10 or fewer people.

Students who move out for the semester and complete necessary paperwork will receive a 60% prorated refund of room and board costs for the final eight weeks of school based on their residence hall arrangements and dining plan, less any waivers from the College previously applied to this bill, effective March 16, 2020.

In a future e-mail, Residence Life will communicate specifics related to checkout and the details of the prorated refund.

For those who are unable to leave or choose not to leave, the residence halls, dining services, and other student services will remain open.

Students who do not inform Residence Life of a desire to vacate by March 23 but do so before May 1, will be given a refund prorated to the remainder of the spring semester.

The College, including residence halls and dining facilities, remain open to serve students. Other support services, including libraries and computer labs, remain open. Please be aware that some services may have limited hours and social distancing measures are being followed. As needed, some services will add remote delivery options.

Updates to the College’s response to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) are available on a dedicated website, www.peru.edu/media/coronavirus.

Sincerely,
Dr. Jesse Dorman
Vice President of Enrollment and Student Affairs
